

Poster Presentation Instructions

These instructions will help you prepare your printed poster for your in-person presentation in the Poster Hall at the Metro Toronto Convention Centre so that you and your colleagues receive the most benefit from your presentation.

Poster Dismantling -- Important information! Dismantle your poster on time!

Presenters are responsible for retrieving their posters each day prior to the dismantle time listed below. Over the course of three days, there will be approximately 2,000 poster presentations. Posters left behind at the end of the dismantle period each day will be discarded, and are not the responsibility of ASTMH nor the Metro Toronto Convention Centre. See dismantle schedule below.

Poster Hall Location

All poster presentations will be in person with printed posters. The Poster Sessions will take place in Hall E on Level 8 of the Metro Toronto Convention Centre. See Poster Session schedule below.

Poster Dimensions

You will be provided a space approximately 4-feet-high by 4-feet-wide (121 cm x 121 cm)—including the frames of the bulletin board—to hang your printed poster. Prepare your printed poster so that it makes the most of this space but does not exceed the area.

Checklist

1. We suggest creating a handout, business card or QR code that includes your contact information so colleagues can connect with you after the conference. If you decide to bring printed copies, we suggest bringing 50 copies. This is optional and is not required.
2. Bring push pins to mount your printed poster. ASTMH will not have push pins available.

Please note: Due to fire regulations, we are unable to place any tables or chairs in front of the poster boards, and electrical hookups are not allowed.

New Abstract Presentation Number

Include your new abstract presentation number [provided to you via email] in a large font in the upper-left corner of your printed poster.

Poster Presentations

Your printed poster is a visual presentation of your research or clinical project. Use schematic diagrams, graphs, tables and other strategies to direct the visual attention of viewers, rather than explaining it using text, as you would in a journal article.

A poster addresses one central question. State the question or hypothesis clearly in the poster and use your presentation to provide a clear and explicit takeaway message.

Content

Posters usually have a similar structure to a research paper or journal article: an abstract, introduction (e.g., brief rationale or review of relevant research), method section, results section, and a conclusion or summary. You may also want to list key references. If your poster is more clinically oriented, you may elect to use a different format, but breaking things down into clear sections with headings will help your colleagues understand your poster easily and quickly.

In the busy and crowded environment of a poster session, most people do not have the ability to read and process long sections of text. Therefore, keep text concise and focus on the key ideas. You can convey details via discussion when you are standing by your poster.

In Summary

- Make note of dismantle times.
- Include your new abstract presentation number in a large font on the upper-left corner of your poster so attendees can easily locate your abstract.
- Use bullet points to simplify sections.
- Use large type, such as 36-point type for section headings and 24-point type for text. Never use type smaller than 18-point.
- Make effective use of underlines and boldface.
- Use graphs and figures whenever possible.
- Make your poster eye-catching.
