

American Committee of Molecular, Cellular and Immunoparasitology Travel Award for Low and Low-Middle Income (LMIC) Trainees

The ACMCIP student travel award will recognize an international student or trainee, not based full-time in the United States or other high-income country. Priority will be given to qualified applicants primarily living and working in a Low or Lower-Middle Income country \(L/LMIC\). The applicant must be a member of ACMCIP and submit an abstract to the ASTMH Annual Meeting in the fields of molecular, cellular or immunoparasitology research. The goal is to encourage LMIC trainees who are conducting basic parasitology research and to provide funding for them to participate in the Annual Meeting.

Submitting online application – Beginning March 20, 2024, submit your application online

Application deadline – April 17, 2024

Award Information - The recipient will present their studies at the 2024 Annual Meeting (November 13-17, 2024, New Orleans, LA) and will receive up to $1,000 US to help defray registration and travel costs to attend the meeting and a complimentary registration. Every applicant will receive a notification of the award status in July 2024.

Eligibility Requirements

- The award is open to any researcher who is a trainee (a student - MS, MD, DPharm or PhD or post-doctoral fellow within four years of graduation from their final degree).
- Applicant must be primarily living and working in a Low or Lower-Middle Income country \(L/LMIC\), not based full-time in the United States or other high-income country.
- Applicant must be a member of ASTMH and ACMCIP. If you are not a current member of ASTMH or the ACMCIP, join now.
- The applicant must submit an abstract to the Annual Meeting in the fields of molecular, cellular or immunoparasitology research. The award recipient will present their research either orally or as a poster during the Annual Meeting and during one of the ACMCIP scientific sessions. Applicants should plan on attending the entire meeting in person, November 13-17, 2024.

Application Process

Applicants must submit:

- A cover letter describing how the applicant's research fits with the interests of ACMCIP, and how their career will benefit from this travel award (approximately 5,000 character limit).
- Curriculum Vitae.

- Abstract with the abstract number assigned by the ASTMH abstract submission site, example: 24-A-1234-ASTMH. The abstract submission site is available here – Applicants should submit and pay their abstract to the online abstract submission site by the April 17 abstract submission deadline.
- Recommendation letter in pdf or Microsoft Word format on letterhead from their major professor or research committee advisor. The letter should explain the importance of the trainee’s research.
- 2x2 high-resolution headshot photo to be used on signage at the Annual Meeting.

The ACMCIP Travel Award for LMIC Trainees Committee will review and select the awardee based on research excellence and the potential impact on the trainee’s research career. The awardee will be notified 2-3 months prior to the meeting, allowing sufficient time for visa processing and travel arrangements. The awardee will be invited to attend the awards session of the ACMCIP Executive Council Meeting and the President’s Reception.

Letter of Recommendation

The letter of recommendation must be uploaded directly to the application site by the applicant’s major professor/faculty advisor. The site will prompt the applicant to provide the name, mailing address, phone and email for their professor/advisor. The submission program will then generate an email to said professor or advisor with instructions to upload the letter of recommendation to the application site.

Very important... Applicants must gather the contact information for said professor or advisor prior to beginning their online submission. It is then the applicant’s responsibility to communicate with this professor and/or advisor to ensure they have received the email generated by the submission site and has uploaded the letter by the April 17 deadline.

After April 17, any application that does not include the letter of recommendation will be considered incomplete and will not be forwarded to the review committee.

Finalizing your application... After entering all information into the online application including the cover letter and CV and after the professor or advisor has uploaded the recommendation letter, please go to the REVIEW SUBMISSION page and scroll to the bottom. If all information has been entered correctly, the applicant will see a drop-down menu at the bottom of the page. Select the response of COMPLETE in the drop-down menu and press SAVE. The application will then be complete and ready for review.
